DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The specification is objected because it seems that the specification contains language and terms that are incomprehensible. It seems that the specification is a translation from a language other than English. A proper correction is required.
2. A substitute specification in proper idiomatic English and in compliance with 37 CFR 1.52(a) and (b) is required. The substitute specification filed must be accompanied by a statement that it contains no new matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 (line 6), the recitation "a reside" is considered indefinite. What is it?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966); that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. Claims 1, 3, 5, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Tanaka et al. (JP 2001011327 A, English abstract) and Sakairi et al. (JP 2000255644 A, English abstract), each and individually.

The invention of claims 1, 5, 7 relates to a biodegradable resin composition, obtained by binding, with a biodegradable resin, solid particles of a predetermined particle size available by pulverizing rice and composed mainly of an outer layer tissue of rice, wherein the solid particles mean rice powder from which bran has been removed by rice milling.

The invention of claim 3 relates to a biodegradable resin composition obtained by binding, with a biodegradable resin, solid particles of a predetermined particle size available by pulverizing rice and composed mainly of an outer layer tissue of rice, wherein the solid particles are composed of a residue having, as a main component, a substance derived from the starch layer of rice available by removing bran from rice by rice milling, rinsing the residue with water, and filtering the effluent generated in the rinsing step.

Tanaka et al. (English abstract) disclose a molded composition (binded with resins) comprising a mixture of biodegradable resin with a barley cleaning refuse in a specific proportion. Sakairi et al. (English abstract) disclose pulp beads comprising rice powder, and a biodegradable resin. Although both Tanaka et al. and Sakairi et al. are silent on the method on how the final composition are prepared in the English abstract, applicants must recognize that “[E]ven though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process.” In re Thorpe, 777F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985).

In view of the substantially identical composition disclosed in Tanaka et al. and Sakairi et al, each and individually, and the composition being claimed, the examiner has a reasonable basis that the claimed “biodegradable resin composition” as claimed is inherently possessed in Tanaka et al. and Sakairi et al, each and individually. Since the PTO does not have proper means to conduct experiments, the burden of proof is now shifted to applicants to show otherwise. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 195 USPQ 430 (CCPA 1977); In re Fitzgerald, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980).
